

our story

Launched in early 1997, RadWorking.com was the first niche job board devoted solely to the radiology industry. RadWorking ranks #1 organically on Google.com for “radiology jobs.” Visitors to the site include both physicians and allied health professionals who trust RadWorking to offer the most comprehensive selection of employment opportunities nationwide.

Our Focus

Unlike other medical staffing boards, RadWorking focuses solely on radiology job opportunities. The quality of our job content and candidates is maintained by removing job postings not renewed after 60 days and candidates inactive after 120 days. The result is the most current radiology job-focused traffic.

Incredible Traffic

In 2008 RadWorking generated over 560,000 absolute visits to the site, per Google Analytics. Those visitors conducted over 735,000 job searches for physician and allied health jobs!

JOB SEARCHES IN 2008:

Physician Jobs	Allied Health Jobs
414,075	321,136

Active Candidates

RadWorking allows candidates to view jobs at no cost and without registering, meaning your jobs get more views than sites with registration road blocks. Active candidates who choose to post their profile are searchable with access to RadWorking’s candidate database. These candidates have profiles updated within 120 days.

Market Exposure

RadWorking has earned its place as the top job board for radiology by aggressively marketing by means of targeted print, search engine, email, and trade show advertising. A similar marketing plan is in place for 2009 to continue RadWorking’s growth.

“ I made $30,000 using RadWorking.com the past 12 months. I’ve used four or five radiology job boards and you are without a doubt the best. Now I just use your site. ”

- Recruiter, Florida